SHED 5 FLEA RETURNS TO EASTERN MARKET

Makers, Shopkeepers & Vintage Purveyors Unite

DETROIT, MICH. – Safely returning to Eastern Market for its fifth season, Shed 5 Flea welcomes handmakers, shopkeepers, and vintage purveyors filling the interior and exterior of Shed 5 and around Shed 6. Shed 5 Flea brings Detroit a hefty dose of architectural salvage, vintage and handcrafted goods, small batch and artisan foods, apparel, and much more. This free event takes place on Sunday, June 13, July 11, and August 8 from 10am to 4pm. Please note that we will be following the MI COVID guidelines that are in place at that time.

Welcoming thousands of shoppers, Shed 5 Flea launched to rave reviews in 2016 and has quickly become a summer favorite among shoppers and exhibitors alike. With a large offering of new and vintage apparel, accessories, home décor, gourmet foods, and unique items you won't find anywhere else, Shed 5 Flea is sure to please.

Join Detroit's most unique automotive enthusiast event, Motors at the Market presented by America's Automotive Trust. Drive your vintage, classic, modern muscle, luxury vehicle, or classic motorcycle and park exclusively in the Motors at the Market lot at the SE corner of 2934 Russell and Wilkens during each Shed 5 Flea.

“Simply put, it’s all the things you love in one place and that place is Detroit’s historic Eastern Market. As if you needed another reason to love Eastern Market, your admiration just grew tenfold. Bring a big truck,” says Stephanie Jones, Mercantile Events & Marketing President.

Mercantile Events & Marketing, parent company of Mercantile Fairs, is owned and operated out of Flint, MI. Mercantile Fairs is the creator of retail based consumer shopping events such as the nationally ranked Handcrafters Markets, Detroit Foodie Fair, and the wildly popular Shed 5 Flea series of events. In business since 2007, Mercantile Fairs is one of the fastest growing events and marketing companies in the industry.
